

My dad came to this country when he was a teenager. The hardest part for him was just starting a new life over here and just getting money and finding a job because, well, he was an immigrant.

He had to stay out of trouble and follow the law. I think one of the hardest parts for my dad was leaving his family in Mexico and coming over here.

Anonymous